

bin Laden or bin Coulter?

Photo: MSNBC

Ann Coulter

recipient of the “Best Embrace of

Terrorist Mindset Award”

from a field of pundits “trying to sound as fanatical as the terrorists they were denouncing”

<http://www.fair.org/media-beat/011213.html>

The Best of bin Coulter

Ann Coulter & Peter Fenn, Crossfire, CNN, November 23, 2001

FENN: Let me ask you one very simple question. You have written, and I quote, “We should invade their countries, kill their leaders, and convert them to Christianity.”

COULTER: Yeah, that was a good one.

FENN: Now, I just have one very simple question. Who is “they”?

COULTER: The sentence before that sentence says who they are. And that is the terrorists, the people cheering and dancing in the street.

FIEGER: Convert them to Christianity?

COULTER: The ones we happen to be killing right now. Thank God for the Green Berets.

FIEGER: What’s the difference between you and bin Laden?

“This is no time to be precious about locating the exact individuals directly involved in this particular terrorist attack. ... We don’t need long investigations of the forensic evidence to determine with scientific accuracy the person or persons who ordered this specific attack. ... We should invade their countries, kill their leaders and convert them to Christianity. We weren’t punctilious about locating and punishing only Hitler and his top officers. We carpet-bombed German cities; we killed civilians. That’s war. And this is war.”

“We oughta be discussing whether they should be tortured.”

“That’s the whole point here, to kill them. And we will kill them. ... Our objective is to kill him and we kill him. ... So we need to kill them and we are killing them. ... kill all these other fanatics who are running over there. ... These are precisely the people we want to kill.”

“Even fanatical Muslim terrorists don’t hate America like liberals do.”

“When contemplating college liberals, you really regret once again that John Walker is not getting the death penalty. We need to execute people like John Walker in order to physically intimidate liberals, by making them realize that they can be killed too. Otherwise they will turn into outright traitors.”

“According to initial buoyant reports in early February, enraged travelers rose up in a savage attack on the secretary of transportation. Hope was dashed when later reports indicated that the irritated travelers were actually rival warlords, the airport was the Kabul Airport, and Norman Mineta was still with us.”

“We have a national debate about whether Clinton ‘did it,’ even though all sentient people know he did ... otherwise there would only be debates about whether to impeach or assassinate.”